one might believe that museum studies is a stable field of academic inquiry based on a set of familiar institutional forms and functions but as institutions museums have never been stable or singular and neither has the discipline of museum studies museum studies as a field of academic inquiry has received little critical attention one result of this neglect has arguably been a lack of invention in museum studies another is the distancing of academic museum studies from museum practice doing museology differently charts a different course a critical creative reflection on academic practice the book takes the form of a narrative account of museological fieldwork a research story unfolds challenging academic conventions at the level of its own presentation the book combines critical museum visiting with an autobiographical voice the identification of a previously underexplored interdisciplinary space leads the author to experiment with museum studies using contemporary developments in the theory and practice of human geography the new approaches to museological research and representation that emerge from this unique inquiry challenge assumed institutional and intellectual boundaries and act as a call to further creative experimentation offering for the first time a full historicized accounting of philosophical archaeology ido govrin delineates how this overarching method of historical inquiry has today become associated to a large extent with the work of giorgio agamben and how it constitutes agamben's philosophy of history in particular as befits a book situated at an intellectual crossroads that brings together a range of discourses philosophy history aesthetics theology and philology govrin conceives of philosophical archaeology as a multifaceted concept on a broad scale the discussion slides along the length of the multilateral fault line and into the related fields of contemporary art and art history theory in doing so it illuminates the potential for philosophical archaeology as an artistic modus operandi in the broader context of contemporary art to expand our conception of history and historiographic research and for this sense of history to expand our conception of art in turn at stake in this consideration is the possibility of a new materially based philosophy of history
